DETAILED ACTION

Specification

1. 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, requires the specification to be written in "full, clear, concise, and exact terms." The specification is replete with terms which are not clear, concise and exact. The application is not written in proper idiomatic English and is replete with grammatical errors. Because Applicant has asked for examples of what is not understood, consider the first sentence, which reads, "The present invention is related to religious articles, and/or historical articles, and/or memorial articles, and/or gift, etc. And more specifically to antiqueness and coins that qualified as a holy or historical values articles which were used them in religious ceremonies." In this sentence, "gift" should be "gifts." "And" either should not be capitalized, or the clause should be made into a separate sentence. The phrase "qualified as a holy or historical values articles" is not a proper idiomatic English phrase, and it is not understood. Finally, "them" should be deleted. The rest of the specification is equally defective. More importantly, under the heading "DETAILED DESCRIPTIONS OF PREFERRED EMBODIMENTS," a phrase like "designing denomination, produce consummate copies and contributed alteration and other etc." is not a proper English construction, and as such is not understandable. The specification should be revised carefully in order to comply with 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph. Applicant should be careful not to introduce any new matter into the disclosure (i.e., matter which is not supported by the disclosure as originally filed).
2. The amendment filed July 19, 2006 is objected to under 35 U.S.C. 132(a) because it introduces new matter into the disclosure. 35 U.S.C. 132(a) states that no amendment shall introduce new matter into the disclosure of the invention. The added material which is not supported by the original disclosure includes: In the description of Fig. 1., the originally filed specification mentions nothing about “improving the valuelessness of the original” or “correcting the value damage of the original.” The rest of the new specification should be carefully compared with the original specification to ensure that new matter is not presented.

Applicant is required to cancel the new matter in the reply to this Office Action.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

3. Claims 1-3 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. The claims appear to be merely a list of the definitions of words. They do not define an invention.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

4. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

5. Claims 1-3, as best understood, are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by “1705 Queen Anne Crown”.

“1705 Queen Anne Crown” discloses a copy of a coin in which the denomination (i.e., one crown) is maintained, but the coin is identified as a reproduction (i.e., by featuring the word “copy”).

Response to Amendment

6. The amendment to the specification does not comply with 37 CFR § 1.121(b), which states, "Amendments to the specification, other than the claims . . . must be made by adding, deleting or replacing a paragraph, by replacing a section, or by a substitute specification, in the manner specified in this section." Applicant appears to be attempting to file a substitute specification. 37 CFR §1.121(b)(3) states, "The specification, other than the claims, may also be amended by submitting: (i) An instruction to replace the specification; and (ii) A substitute specification in compliance with §§ 1.125(b) and (c)." 37 CFR §1.125(b) and (c) states, "Subject to §1.312, a substitute specification, excluding the claims, may be filed at any time up to payment of the issue fee if it is accompanied by a statement that the substitute specification includes no new matter. A substitute specification submitted under this section must be submitted with markings showing all the changes relative to the immediate prior version of the specification of record. The text of any added subject matter must be shown by underlining the added text. The text of any deleted matter must be shown by strike-through except that double brackets placed before and after the deleted characters may be used to show deletion of five or fewer consecutive characters. The text of any deleted subject matter must be shown by being placed within double brackets if strike-through cannot be easily perceived. An accompanying clean version (without markings) must also be supplied.

Response to Arguments

7. Applicant's arguments filed July 19, 2006 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Applicants' arguments with respect to "1705 Queen Anne Crown" are not comprehensible, because they are not written in coherent English. Because Applicant has asked the Examiner to give examples of what is not understood, consider the sentence: "'1705 Queen Anne Crown' discloses a simple copy of the crown only without any make a change in; to modify; to vary in any same degree; to change any some of the elements or details, with destroying the identity of the thing affected or with substituting an entirely new thing by the word 'copy' means identity only, which not subject matters of alteration of the present invention." This is a run-on sentence, and its point is not understood. For example, it is not understood why the phrase "to modify; to vary . . ." etc. is inserted after "without any make a change in" (which itself is not a coherent English phrase). Further, it is not understood what is meant by the phrase "with destroying the identity of the thing affected." Further, the phrase, "with substituting an entirely new thing by the word 'copy' means identity only" is not a coherently English phrase, and its meaning is not understood. Finally, the meaning of the phrase, "which is not subject matters of alteration of the present invention" is not understood.

If Applicants feel that the reference does not anticipate the claims, as set forth above, Applicants should submit, in proper idiomatic English, an argument under the heading "Remarks" pointing out disagreements with the examiner's contentions. Applicant must discuss the reference applied against the claims, explaining specifically how the claims avoid the reference or distinguish from it, that is, pointing out which claim limitations are not disclosed by the reference.

Conclusion

8. This action is a final rejection and is intended to close the prosecution of this application. Applicant's reply under 37 CFR 1.113 to this action is limited either to an appeal to the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences or to an amendment complying with the requirements set forth above.

If applicant should desire to appeal any rejection made by the examiner, a Notice of Appeal must be filed within the period for reply identifying the rejected claim or claims appealed. The Notice of Appeal must be accompanied by the required appeal fee of $250.

If applicant should desire to file an amendment, entry of a proposed amendment after final rejection cannot be made as a matter of right unless it merely cancels claims or complies with a formal requirement made earlier. Amendments touching the merits of the application which otherwise might not be proper may be admitted upon a showing a good and sufficient reasons why they are necessary and why they were not presented earlier.

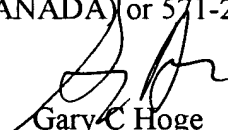

A reply under 37 CFR 1.113 to a final rejection must include the appeal from, or cancellation of, each rejected claim. The filing of an amendment after final rejection, whether or not it is entered, does not stop the running of the statutory period for reply to the final rejection unless the examiner holds the claims to be in condition for allowance. Accordingly, if a Notice of Appeal has not been filed properly within the period for reply, or any extension of this period obtained under either 37 CFR 1.136(a) or (b), the application will become abandoned.
